TESTEX Academy powered by FutureWear Group launches Industry-Leading Certification Programme to Navigate EU Sustainability Regulations

The apparel and textile industry is undergoing a seismic shift, driven by the European Union's new sustainability regulations. To empower industry leaders to navigate this transformation, TESTEX, in collaboration with FutureWear Group GmbH, proudly announces the launch of the TESTEX Academy powered by FutureWear Group - a cutting-edge educational platform designed to equip decision-makers with the knowledge and tools needed to thrive in this new regulatory environment.

A Solution for Industry Leaders

The Academy's inaugural certification programme offers a structured, eight-hour curriculum tailored for professionals seeking to master the latest EU sustainability regulations. Delivered through weekly modules, participants can seamlessly integrate their learning into daily workflows via assessments and guided reflections.

This programme is an essential resource for onboarding new managers and upskilling seasoned professionals across a variety of key roles, including:

- Sustainability Management
- Business Development and Sales
- Product Management
- Regulatory Compliance
- Supply Chain Operations
- Quality Management
- Technology Innovation
- Procurement and Sourcing

A must-have programme

Led by seasoned experts and auditors from TESTEX and FutureWear Group, the programme delivers a unique blend of theoretical knowledge and practical insights. Participants will benefit from exclusive interviews, case studies, and actionable strategies designed to drive sustainability, enhance regulatory compliance, and secure a competitive edge in the EU market.
